Dead 30 Minutes

Birds Sing on Sunday
The Little Man

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1928, by Star Co.

MICHAEL J. HINCH, eighteen years old, touched a live wire carrying 5,000 volts and, according to doctors, was "dead for half an hour." Quick action by firemen brought the boy back to life.

At first his mind wandered. Then he recognized friends, knew his own name, who he was and what he had been doing in the previous eighteen years.

The question arises, does the same thing happen to all of us, after we have been dead a little time, perhaps, as one earnest clergyman suggests, as long a billion years, waiting for the world to end and Gabriel to sound his trump?

Young gentlemen of Yale vote overwhelmingly for Secretary Hoover for President in 1928. The young men reflect, without knowing it, opinions of their fathers and other older men.

Among Democrats, Governor Smith, of New York, is the favorite by a big majority.

Friends of Secretary Hoover should not start their race too early. Many a man has won three-quarters of a race with ease, but not the last quarter.

Pittsburgh judge decides that Pittsburgh's Symphony Society may give concerts on Sunday, although the Allegheny County Sabbath Association calls the concerts wicked.

What about the birds that sing on Sunday, and could not sing if the Lord did not approve? Are they wicked?

Banking gentlemen tell the little man not to invest in stocks, or even bonds, but put his money in savings banks.

That reminds you of the little boy who didn't want his sister to kill the big bluebottle fly. He wanted to kill it.

If bonds and stocks, industrial and others, yield profits good for big concerns, why not give the little man a chance?

How many millions have Frederick H. Ecker of the Metropolitan Life Company; President Mitchell of the National City Bank, President Giannini of the Bank of Italy and Banc-Italy Corporation and dozens of others made for their stockholders by wise bond and stock investments?

Mr. Mitchell made millions for his bank, buying government

COOLIDGE HITS ARMY-NAVY 'WAR SHOUTERS'

HITS 'JINGO' OFFICERS' TALK

Washington, Jan. 24 (I.N.S.)—President Coolidge today brutally spanked army and navy officers and others who have been seeking increased military appropriations through inflammatory statements about the possibility of war.

His official attitude was outlined in clear and emphatic language. He told callers he had no sympathy whatever with the "jingoists."

The President mentioned no names, but left the inference that his re-

$162,000 to Dredge Dorchester Bay Is Urged by Jadwin

Washington, Jan. 24 (A.P.).—Dredging of Dorchester Bay, Massachusetts Harbor, to provide a thirty-foot deep channel from the Boston main ship channel to Squantum was recommended to the House today by Major-General Jadwin, chief of army engineers. The project would cost $162,000 with $1,000 for maintenance.

"Boston Harbor is one of our most important ports," the report said. "But while its general traffic facilities are adequate there appears to be an unfulfilled demand for location on deep water.

BATTLE OF WHITNEYS TO N. H.

After District Attorney Robert T. Bushnell, counsel for the husband, had charged that Mrs. Harold Osgood Whitney of Beacon Hill was found in a home with another man, the entire marital tangle of the Whitneys was shifted to New Hampshire courts today.

The shift was at suggestion of Judge Joan C. Leggat in Middlesex Probate Court, where Whitney sought custody of his two children, Patricia Ann, five, and Arthur Bassett, three.

Bushnell, for Whitney, and Leland Powers, counsel for Mrs. Whitney, both agreed that it would be better to have the entire case, in all angles, decided on its merits in New Hampshire.

When the agreement was made, Atty. Powers withdrew a plea in abatement and a petition asking for transfer of the custody case into Suffolk County.

HE LEFT IN OCTOBER.

Judge Leggat said there was a question in his mind whether Suffolk County or Middlesex County had jurisdiction, but that in the light of the transfer of the entire matter to New Hampshire he would not take the question up.

Then, while Mrs. Whitney sat amid the spectators' benches, only ten feet removed from her husband, Atty. Bushnell explained that Whitney is domiciled legally in New Hampshire. He went on, in explanation of the divorce suit:

"About the middle of October, Mr.

MISSING HOTEL CLERK LOCATED, BUT CAN GIVE NO CLEW TO SMITH GIRL

The most intensive missing-person hunt ever conducted in the country was carried on today along the narrow, sandy strip of Cape Cod, from Buzzards Bay to Woods Hole, where Frances St. John Smith is believed in hiding.

State and local police and crossroads troopers from the Barnstable and Middleboro barracks combined in establishing what is said by authorities to be the first definite clew yet uncarthed in the mysterious disappearance of the Smith College freshman.

While the Cape Cod search was in progress one phase of the case on which investigators had placed much hope was established in the negative. John Paul Stack, former Cornell

DAYLIGHT THIEF LOCKS HIS VICTIM IN ICE BOX

An unmasked gunman, working alone, today held up and robbed Harry Weisman in his store in Edgar avenue, Somerville, locked him into the refrigerator, and calmly walked out. Sometime later Weisman released himself and gave the alarm, but when the police arrived the man was not in sight.

Weisman told the police he was alone in the store, his wife having gone to their home next door. A man about 40 years old, 5 feet 7 inches tall, wearing a soft hat and dark overcoat, entered the store and inquired for a Mr. Briskey. Not being a follower of Ted Cook, the proprietor expressed his ignorance, whereupon the stranger produced a

PERSONAL TELEPHONE SERVICE

Your Service Representative

There's chance for a more personal service all along the telephone line.

After all, though, it is in day-to-day business relations between telephone user and telephone company that the personal touch is hardest to come by.

Already we have working in Boston a telephone business organization more strongly individual than ever before.

We have taken every exchange in Greater Boston, split it up into small blocks, and put each block in charge of a team of competent women. They are called Service Representatives. Each one is instructed to make the telephone welfare of her particular group her personal concern.

These women are not operators. They do not handle calls. They attend to the business details incident to installing, moving or removing telephones, and to all other business phases of our service. They are your personal representatives and also act for you if reports to Supervisors with respect to service difficulties, or to Repair Clerks with respect to mechanical troubles, are not satisfactorily dealt with.

When you need to do business with us, keep in mind simply this: That you have in our organization your own Service Representative, upon whom you can call by telephone, who will regard you as her special client.

In order to reach her, ask for Business Office. When you get Business Office, simply give your telephone number and—there you are, talking to her!

In a way, it's going back to first principles. We ask you to go with us, however, in the belief that this is the right road to personal service.

3 GIRLS BITTEN BY DOG; MANY ARE TERRIFIED

Three little girls were bitten and a score of their fellow pupils frightened almost into hysterics by a large black and gray mongrel dog in the yard of the Osgood School on Fourth street, Medford, today.

Summoned by the school authorities policeman captured the dog and turned it over to Dr. Harris Pierce, local veterinarian and inspector of the State division of animal industry, who is holding the animal for observation.

The children who were bitten are Alice Porter, 9, of No. 16A Third street, Elizabeth Mazzarella, 12, No. 7 First street, and Ruth Martin, 11, No. 7 Third street, all of Medford.

The Porter and Mazzarella girls were just outside the school yard when the dog appeared, and leaping at Alice bit her on both arms. Her chum courageously attempted to drive the beast away and was herself bitten on one leg. Then the dog shot into the school yard, driving terror into the hearts of the children, and before Ruth Martin could get out of the way, bit her on one arm.

Missing Smith Girl ∽ Sought in Cape Cod Hunt ∽ As She Appears in Various Poses

TRAIL IS PICKED UP AT HOTEL IN BUZZARDS BAY AND LEADS TO WOODS HOLE

Several views of Frances St. John Smith that may help State troopers in their search on Cape Cod where every effort will be made to find someone who can identify her as the girl who stopped at a Buzzards Bay hotel four hours for luncheon and rest on her way to Woods Hole last Tuesday.

high-jumper and Northampton inn manager, had no connection with Miss Smith's disappearance from college 11 days ago.

Stack was located in a Hartford, Ct., hotel today by State Detective Joseph V. Daly and Major Thomas J. Hammond, counsel for Mr. and Mrs. St. John Smith, the girl's parents. They were satisfied, after a long interview with the man they sought for two days, that he had nothing whatever to do with the case.

A chain of circumstances, each important but immeasurably more so when combined, started the Cape Cod hunt.

Its first link was the letter mailed last Wednesday from Vineyard Haven to Superintendent Michael H. Crowley of the Boston police.

Although disguised, handwriting experts declared it to have been written by a girl. The sender informed Superintendent Crowley that Miss Smith might be found at Milton Academy or the McLean Hospital in Belmont, working as a maid, and that she had disappeared for the sake of notoriety.

At the request of Superintendent Crowley, Milton and Belmont police searched the institutions named without result. The incident was forgotten and laid to the work of a crank.

Then came the report that a girl answering in almost every detail the description of Frances St. John Smith was in Buzzards Bay last Tuesday and there bought a ticket and boarded the train which connects at Woods Hole with the boat for Vineyard Haven.

TIP TO GEN. FOOTE.

This report came from Chief Thomas Leonard of the Bourne police to General Alfred F. Foote, commissioner of public safety, who has been active in the case.

The girl appeared at the Buzzards Bay railroad station at 11 a. m. a week ago today. After ascertaining that the Woods Hole train did not

"Mr. Coolidge is certain there is no reason for taking seriously the suggestion that the country is in danger of attack by any power, and he is equally sure that the United States contemplates no action of aggression against any other nation.

Open Fields Lure to Frances Smith

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Dr. Menas Gregory, of Bellevue Hospital, said that he would hesitate to trace in the disappearance of Frances St. John Smith from College a specific example of the desperate usage modern life makes of youth.

The distinguished explorer of those shadowy mental realms we know as the unconscious is too careful a scientist to generalize.

But he admitted that in modern life there is an overwhelming need most evident in youth. That there are peculiar urges in modern youth. The questions he posed, emphasizing that the answers must be different for each individual, are these:

How can his urges be made known to him?

How can they be given adequate outlet?

How can these outlets be equalized so that the individual may escape both a neurose and a jail sentence?

Before psychoanalysis was heard of, Nietzsche epitomized the same thought in this question:

"How can the individual be adapted to the manifold claims of culture without being disguised or suffering the destruction of his personality?"

And to this question Dr. Gregory submitted that modern science has never found a satisfactory answer. The answer is being taken care of in the evolution of modern society by the gradual elimination of the individual.

Frances Smith lived in a prison—a series of prisons. The modern institution of learning is a prison, with study and recreation, both class affairs, with no outlet for the whimsy of an individual student. Her home was another kind of prison. One of the finest in New York.

The open fields lured this girl and she wrote that she always wished to see what was on the other side of the Blue Hills. She may have found her wish fulfillment at the bottom of the Connecticut River.

FEDERAL JURY FINDS FIVE GUILTY IN LIQUOR CASE

Objecting to the offering of government evidence, on the ground that the search warrant was faulty, Atty. William W. White of Lowell refused to put in any defense for five clients today in Federal Court in a liquor case and practically suggested to the jury that they return a guilty verdict. Attorney White pointed out that he wished to carry the case up to the Circuit Court of Appeals. A guilty verdict was returned without the jury leaving the box. Defendants were: Mrs. Stanislowa Kienia, Antonio Tomaselli, Tony Popolodu, Salvatore Spota and Antonio Fishera, all of Methuen.

The attachment, which was for electrical work done by the Siddorf Electric Company of New York, was placed on the plane at Teterboro airport yesterday.

Cold, Damp Quarters Depress Soldiers

HOUSING conditions of soldiers stationed at Governors Island in New York harbor were found to be even worse than at Fort Hamilton by the committee of citizens organized by the Hearst Newspapers co-operating to investigate army housing at military posts in the metropolitan area. In a heavy downpour of rain members of the committee visited Fort Jay and were shocked by the conditions revealed at that post.

Congressman John J. Boylan and other members of the committee got a realistic picture of the adverse weather conditions of the deplorable manner in which enlisted soldiers are housed on Governors Island, at the gateway to the country's greatest and wealthiest city. The committee found the enlisted men quartered in war-time warehouse sheds that have been converted into barracks. The outside walls consist of rusty sheet iron backed on the inside by box board and burlap to keep the cold and rain out. Officers told the committee these structures were "pesos." No one needed to be told to be convinced of the truth of this.

In many of the barracks the rain seeped through the wall and ceilings of the dismal structures and in several paved recreation rooms pools of water formed on the floor from leaking roofs. The committee found the heating equipment totally inadequate and wasteful. It consisted of one or two antiquated sheet iron stoves in squad rooms housing from twenty-five to fifty soldiers.

The squad rooms, mess rooms, kitchens and even the makeshift recreation halls were damp, dark, dismal, cold and tragically depressing. The enlisted men huddled in shiver.

Whitney, due to occurrences and his suspicions, ceased to live with his wife. He left his children with her for the time being.

"On the night of November 26, he went into the house she occupied, where he found her with another man in a room directly under the room occupied by the children.

"The following day he took the children to the home of his mother in Watertown, where they have been since.

"That is why the petitioner brought this action here, as it was the only place he could have taken the children.

"We are ready to proceed, but I wish to state that a divorce suit will be filed in New Hampshire and service will be made upon Mrs. Whitney today.

"The entire issue will be fought out in New Hampshire. The divorce will be filed by Mr. Whitney on grounds that are obvious. The children are being well cared for by their grandmother, who adores them, and they are well attended."

Attorney Powers, responding, declared:

"The children went to see their grandmother on November 27 and were not returned. I am prepared to show that it is as the result of a trick that the children are now in the grandmother's home, and I agree, tho, this case should be settled in the New Hampshire courts."

VOICES DEMAND FOR PUBLIC OWNERSHIP

Characterizing the Elevated proceedings before the legislative committees on street railways and metropolitan affairs as "mock hearings," Representative James J. Twohig of South Boston today pleaded for public ownership of the road as the only "honest" solution of the problem.

Reading from a speech delivered by Representative Martin Hays of Boston to the rules committee, Twohig quoted Hays as saying that the extension of public control was "all fixed," and that the only issue was the number of years and the rate of the dividends.

"Does this mean that the committee is sitting here as a crowd of fakers?" he asked.

"If so, it is a terrible indictment of the Legislature.

In ten years of public control, Twohig declared, more than $74,000,000 of the people's money has been poured into the road and "it is proposed to continue this policy for fifteen years with bonds running for as long as forty years."

"If perpetrated, it will be the greatest piece of thievery ever foisted on the people," he said.

The so-called evils of public ownership he dismissed with the statement that "the people are entitled to the best service at the lowest cost."

Washington, Jan. 24 (I.N.S.).—A public inventory of the stock and bond holdings of the President of the United States, all Cabinet officers, Senators and Representatives would be authorized under a Senate joint resolution introduced today by Senator Frazier (R.), North Dakota.

The resolution was aimed particularly at learning what Senators and Representatives own stocks and bonds of electric companies, grouped within the so-called "power trust," which a Democratic insurgent coalition is attempting to investigate. It would apply, however, to "all industrial, railroad, banking, shipping, mining, oil and other corporations (firms and partnerships) owned within the last two years."

Washington, Jan. 24 (A.P.).—Of his own motion, Senator Walsh (D.), Montana, today amended his power trust investigating resolution so as to curtail the powers of the proposed special committee to conduct the inquiry.

More Glory for Hub, It's Cleanest U. S. City

Pittsburgh, Jan. 24.—Boston is the cleanest city in the land, and Pittsburgh is no longer the dirtiest, St. Louis being given that questionable honor by Professor Samuel E. Dibble of the Carnegie Institute of Technology, after a long scientific investigation.

Cincinnati, with 16,770 dust particles per cubic foot, is second, and Pittsburgh is third, with 16,100. Detroit has 15,500, and Chicago has 14,000. Boston, which has only 5,300 dust particles per cubic foot, is, according to investigation, the cleanest big city in the country.

That Pittsburgh has "relinquished" its rank as the dirtiest city is attributed by Dibble to the strenuous methods in smoke abatement.

Interest Taken by Society Is Attested by Lengthy List of Reservations in Committee's Hands

COUNTING THE HOURS BETWEEN NOW AND 8 O'CLOCK NEXT MONDAY EVENING IS A pastime occupying opera-going Boston to the exclusion of all else. Some, the fore-handed ones, are waiting palpitant for the moment to rustle into opera box or orchestra stall. For they have "done their opera shopping early," it may be said. Gowns and wraps, shoes, ornaments and the other feminine falderols, making up the grand toilette for the opening, repose each in its thane wrappings. Others not thus so plenteously provided are dashing gaily from shop to shop. But perhaps the last moment rush has its compensations.

SO IMPORTANT AND SO REMARKABLY lengthy are the reservations lists that great is the joy in the countenances of the "Opera Committee." However, like the feminine last moment shopper, opera devotees, even subscribers and guarantors, and all the great army of "public" purchasers are descending on the opera house for "two" for "Saphe" and "four" for some other favorite operatic effusion. Super-brilliant is the premiere to be. Maestro Panaco, glancing over the house as he takes his first bow (this reception is always cheeringly spontaneous), will behold an auditorium filled from golden pit to gilded dome.

IN A WAY OF SPEAKING, THE OPERA HOUSE will be home to the super-exclusives during the next two weeks. Their evenings and their afternoons devoted to music, bring them in almost continuous attendance. Regulars to whom the opera season is a rite, religiously to be attended, will be in their accustomed places. Names of newcomers to the fold give pleasing variance to list and audiences alike. In the orchestra, the John E. Thayers, Jr., have taken their usual reservations, for many performances.

THE I. TUCKER BURRS, BOTH JUNIOR AND senior, are ticket holders. Mrs. Ward Thoron, the Rev. Charles R. Peck and Mrs. Peck, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Hopkins, Miss Hannah Edwards, Mrs. Edward Thaw, Mrs. T. Jefferson Newbold, Mrs. John Ely, all are on the lists that continue interminably. Higgins of Worcester, Miss Rose Dexter, Basil Gavin of Millis, Mrs. Henry Wheeler, Mrs. Walter Shard of Chestnut street, Mrs. Philip Wrenn, Mrs. Allan Curtis, are some of the names prominently inscribed in the enormous book that records faithfully those operatically inclined.

GRAND OPERA TO MRS. MORGAN BUTLER IS a double treat, since she knows it from both sides of the footlights. Not so very long ago she had her own particular place in the operatic constellation, but now her lilting soprano is heard only at private musicale, or charity fete. The Pliny Jewells, with their charming daughter, Miss Josephine Jewell, are ticket holders. Mr. and Mrs. George Mumford's holdings are for the season, as usual.

DR. FREDERICK LAFAYETTE JACK NEVER misses an opera season. He's one of the distinguished figures of the promenade when immaculate men and peacock-like women flash briefly during the correct intermission. The Alexander Whitesides, devoted to opera, bring their young folks to all the matinees. Mrs. Theodore Burgess, Mrs. Linfield Damon, W. E. Biddle of Amesbury, Mrs. Wirt Dexter, Mrs. Harris Livermore, Mrs. Charles Sumner Bird and Mrs. Charles Sumner Bird, Jr.; the Oliver Wolcotts, the Charles Fanning Ayers and W. S. Cording all are on the lists that continue interminably.

WHETHER IN FORMAL EVENING MODE PRESCRIBED FOR CONcert stage, or wearing Italy's picturesque peasant costume, Signora Lucilla de Vescovi is delightful. Certainly a very smartest audience last evening, more than filling the ballroom at No. 16 Beacon street, warmly attested its pleasure. In private life Mrs. Malcolm Whitman, the Signora's concert costumes were as pleasing to the eyes as were her "Songs of Italy" to the ear. First she appeared in a trained gown of heavy white silk with formal silver pattern, and then in Italy's bright-colored armlets and chains against a fiesta frock of silk.

THE WHITMAN FAMILY CONNECTION CAME OUT IN NUMBERS for the concert. Mrs. William Whitman, Jr., brought guests. Mrs. Hendricks Halley Whitman, beautifully costumed in black velvet, brought a large group, and after the concert entertained a still larger group at supper. Mrs. Robert Whitman Means, in green crepe, was in Mrs. Hendricks Whitman's party. Mrs. Franklin Hobbs was statuesque in black lace. Mrs. Frederick Bradlee, Jr., was in heliotrope crepe beaded in silver.

AN AUDIENCE OPERATICALLY JEWELED AND ATTIRED CAME to hear Mrs. Whitman. Literally it spilled out into the entrance and up into the balcony. Mr. and Mrs. William Gordon Means, Mr. and Mrs. I. Tucker Burr, Mrs. Timothee Adamowski, Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Crett, Mrs. Nathaniel Simpkins, Mrs. Albert Apsey, with Richard Platt, the musician, in her group; Mrs. Edith and Miss Caroline Tickner, Mrs. James Reed, Mr. and Mrs. William Dana Orcutt and their son, Philip Orcutt, were smartly representative.

MRS. B. H. BRISTOW DRAPER'S COSTUME OF BLACK VELVET and chinchilla banded wrap was very handsome. Mrs. A. Cecile Butler, in gold lace beneath a cloth of gold wrap, contributed considerably to the brilliant picture. Mrs. Edwin Sibley Webster, in jade gown and silver wrap, brought friends. Mrs. Frank Shaw's taffeta gown's jet black was relieved by flashing necklet and several bracelets of square crystals. Miss Mildred Bradley was in black. Mrs. John S. Lawrence wore a sequined frock of turquoise. Mrs. F. L. W. Richardson of the late corners and therefore on the fringe, was her usual handsome self.

WILD AUTOISTS FLEE BULLETS IN CHASE

Providence, R. I., Jan. 24.—Police of two States are today seeking wild driving auto thieves who roared through Rhode Island and Connecticut in car No. 267498, believed stolen from John A. Lafferty of Acushnet avenue, New Bedford, disregarding several storms of bullets.

The men stole ten gallons of gasoline in Norwood, R. I., paid no attention to a shot fired by a patrolman in Abbonaug, evaded a town patrolman in East Greenwich and two State troopers in Wickford and ran a gauntlet of bullets from the revolvers of five policemen in Westerly.

The automobile bearing registration 267498 is a sedan, the property of John A. Lafferty of New Bedford, according to the office of Registrar of Motor Vehicles Frank A. Goodwin. It was stolen in New Bedford last night.

Leaves Traffic Post to Give Pint of His Blood to Dying Man

Called from his post in City Hall square, Lynn, today, Traffic Officer Edgar Williams sped in a police car to Union Hospital, gave a pint of blood to Frank Wescott, his wife's uncle, who was dying, and returned to duty within a space of four hours.

Following the transfusion, two Boston specialists operated upon Westcott in an attempt to save his life. Williams said he would give another pint of blood if doctors found it necessary following the operation.

A short time after he had returned to his post, the traffic officer was relieved for station duty so he might rest.

WARMER, WITH RAIN, FOR HUB

Sweeping the country eastward from Missouri, an extensive area of warmth, accompanied by rain is due to precipitate showers and elevate the mercury here over the coming thirty-six hours.

Extreme cold weather has practically disappeared from its usual Winter strongholds in the North and Northwest, a favorable omen for the continuance of mild conditions in New England over an indefinite period.

FORD'S NEW AIR FLIVVER HOPS FOR MIAMI

Detroit, Jan. 24 (A.P.).—Hoyt Brooks, piloting the latest Ford product—a flivver plane—took off from the Ford airport at 7:15 o'clock Eastern standard time, today on a projected nonstop flight to Miami, Fla.

In total darkness and with a steady fall of rain and snow, the tiny plane was brought from its hangar. With no ceremony Brooks took his place in the plane, shook hands with Henry Ford and William B. Mayo, chief engineer of the Ford Motor Company, and was off.

The plane carried forty-eight gallons of gasoline in wing tanks Brooks said he planned to complete the hop in fourteen hours. He carried no food and only a quart of drinking water.

The new flivver plane is so small it could be hangared in a woodshed. With a wing spread of less than 29 feet and a gasoline capacity of approximately 48 gallons, the plane is believed capable of negotiating the 1,400-mile journey on half its gas load. Tests of the ship have showed a gasoline consumption of only a fraction more than two gallons per mile hundred miles, while traveling at top speed, which is approximately 100 miles an hour.

The plane is powered by a ten cylinder motor. Its production marks the initial venture of Ford into the manufacture of airplane motors. Two flivver planes, built both by the Ford Company, a single-engined monoplane and a giant airliner of the kind in which Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh recently journeyed to Mexico City and return.

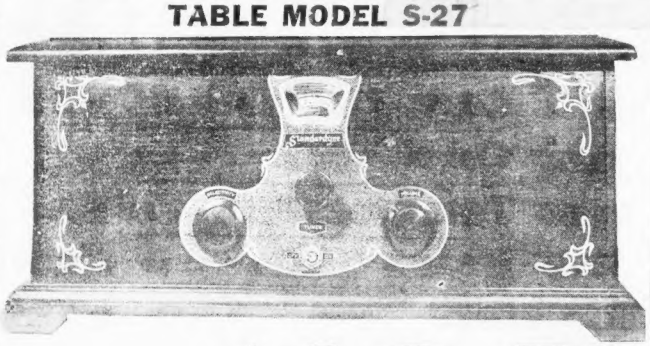
TABLE MODEL S-27



6 Tube Receiver
Solid Decorated Bronze Panel

$16.50 each
ALL IN ORIGINAL CARTONS
WITHOUT EQUIPMENT

REMEMBER:—6-Tube Set, One Dial Control with Provision for Power Tube

CONTROLS

The Standardyne S-27 has one tuning control and covers the entire broadcasting range with ease. The tuning condensers are specially designed to properly space all stations with equal separation on the dials.

The tuning dial is of the speedometer type and is controlled by a positive vernier drive capable of giving close adjustment.

CONSTRUCTION

The construction of the Standardyne S-27 embodies some features that are worthy of note. The sockets are of our own manufacture and will take both UV and UX tubes, without the use of socket shells. This gives the sub-panel a neat appearance. The transformers developed in the laboratory of the Standard Radio Corporation under the trade name "Philharmonic" were designed to give considerable volume without distortion. They are of sufficient current carrying capacity to be used with power tubes should the user so desire.

The wiring of the Standardyne S-27 is a departure from the customary procedure. Solenoid units, which cause a great deal of the grief to radio receivers, have been almost entirely eliminated. All wiring is made with formed bus wire and rugged straps and is securely riveted to the sub-panel. This method of construction insures standardization.

The model S-27 is a six-tube Receiver consisting of three stages of tuned radio frequency amplification, a detector and two stages of audio frequency amplification.

DO GENTLEMEN LIKE BLONDES? JUST ASK RUTH!

Blondes have been credited and charged with everything under the sun, but it remained today for Miss Ruth Lee Taylor, star of "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," to start a riot outside the Statler Hotel.

Of course, it wasn't a real riot. A couple of hundred men who saw her posing for the movies and still newer cameras all but took souvenirs from her very blonde head.

At a luncheon later dramatic critics and reporters were afforded the opportunity of gazing upon the diminutive star of the stage and screen and here again it was almost unanimously decided that "Gentlemen prefer blondes."

Ruth displayed originality in the invitations to luncheon. They read:

"You're invited to a Jewel Luncheon at the Statler . . . and see, at close range one reason 'Why Gentlemen Prefer Blondes . . . and there'll be several good reasons why you should be there, believe me, dearie. P. S.—This is your meal ticket."

One good reason was Ruth Tayler and her blonde permanent and the others were the same. Incidentally, she is playing a comedy engagement at the Metropolitan today.

TWOHIG FLAYS MOCK HEARINGS ON 'L' CONTROL

ment that he did not believe they existed. Instances of bad management in privately owned corporations are many, he declared.

He took the Governor to task for urging home on the Legislature in solving the matter.

"It was only last year," he pointed out, "that the Governor was ridiculing the Legislature for dilly-dallying around over the size of pickerel."

"I don't believe in haste. Be careful to safeguard the interests of the citizens of Boston. The Elevated, through its various mouthpieces, say, in effect, that they can not produce capital to provide necessary improvements. Save this vast amount of money for the people."

He warned the legislators that there may be a repetition of the great scandal when members of the 1918 Great and General Court were "known up" as having received blocks of stock in the road.

"They were fortunate they did not go to jail," the speaker asserted. "When they say this is an issue and that this is only a stock trial, I say there must be something behind it. The people will demand retribution."

Representative Eliot Wadsworth of Boston read into the records a letter from George U. Crocker, advocating the return of the road to private control.

"There can be no doubt" the letter in part read, "that the policy of guaranteed dividends to private investors of transportation companies, or any public utility companies, is vicious and wrong and should not be adopted as a permanent policy towards unlucky investors."

Edwin S. Brooks, representing the Boston Real Estate Exchange, protested against the provisions for assessing betterments on land for new subways.

21 PRISONERS TUNNEL OUT OF DETROIT JAIL

Detroit, Jan. 24 (A.P.).—Twenty-one Federal prisoners escaped from the Elmwood branch of the Wayne County Jail today by tunnelling through a six-inch brick wall.

One of the absconders was captured a few hours after his escape. He was found hiding in a brickyard near the jail.

The escape was effected between 3 and 6:30 a. m., shortly after deputy sheriffs in charge of the prisoners had made their rounds, when all was reported well. All available officers were mustered and a search was begun.

The 21 prisoners were held awaiting trials on charges of violating the Federal narcotic laws. They had been transferred to the Elmwood jail, formerly a police station, from the county jail Saturday because of overcrowded conditions. All of them were confined in the same cell.

The wall through which the prisoners dug fronted on an alley. Officers said they believe the prisoners had outside assistance.

A plumbing fixture and pieces of buckets filched from work used to dig the bricks loose out of the wall of a small room in the big cell used as a shower bath. The prisoners worked in relays after placing dummies of clothing in their cell bunks to mislead guards.

After digging through, the prisoners discovered their way still was blocked by a pile of lumber against the wall. They dragged the lumber through the hole into the jail and then fled through the garage.

BAY STATE WARNING FOR CONNECTICUT SMALLPOX

Because of the prevalence of small pox in Connecticut, more than 100 cases having been reported, Public Health Commissioner George H. Bigelow today urged all persons traveling to and from that State to be vaccinated. Three cases which have appeared in Massachusetts, Dr. Bigelow said, are all contacts with cases in Connecticut.

AMERICANS ARE THREATENED

Mexico City, Jan. 24 (I.N.S.).—Several members of the American Colony in Mexico City have received threats of death if Gen. Augustino Sandino, the Nicaraguan rebel leader is killed.

These threats are understood to have come from the adherents of Sandino among the Nicaraguans living here.

Marines Are Routing Sandino's Rebel Bands

Managua, Nicaragua, Jan. 24 (I.N.S.).—Definite headway is now being made towards suppression of the revolt led by General Augustino Sandino, despite the wild and difficult terrain in which operations are being carried on, according to U. S. Marine officers today.

Isolated encounters between Marines and little detachments of Nicaraguans are reported, but there have been no pitched battles.

spective of party and no matter in what section of the country, are sorry for President Coolidge's decision not to be a candidate again," he said.

"If he would allow it, they would enthusiastically keep him at the helm. They chose him as the courageous defender of law and order and as the sagacious executive, and he has fully measured up to their expectations and hopes.

"If they cannot have him they want as his successor a man who stands for the same thing. They are not obliged to look far to find him.

A FEARLESS SUCCESSOR.

"Occupying the same chair in our State House that he occupied when he left for Washington is a man known not only from Alaska to Florida but in every country in the world as a fearless protector of the same cause.

"We do not have to look beyond the borders of Massachusetts to find a successor for Calvin Coolidge.

"We have in Alvan T. Fuller one whom every voter in every section of the United States recognizes as the pre-eminent protector of our institutions against the forces of disorder that now rampant everywhere."

SHOULD BE DRAFTED.

Congressman Andrew characterized the Governor as an admirable executive genius, declaring his was an "extraordinary administration."

Asked to comment on the congressman's statement, Governor Fuller replied:

"I have given the subject no consideration, having occupied my time of late exclusively in preparation of my message to the Legislature and my budget recommendations. I have all I can do to take care of that work and do it properly."

He admitted that he has received a number of telegrams and letters suggesting his name be placed before the national convention, but declared he had taken no action.

Asked if he would do anything to encourage the movement he remodied: "I will not. I have all I can attend to now."

CAMBRIDGE MAN DRAWS GUN IN FIGHT WITH POLICE

Snapping out of a drunken stupor, John Leary of Cambridge street, Cambridge, drew a revolver on three policemen who were taking him to the East Cambridge station for questioning on recent breaks and was overpowered only after a stubborn battle.

Patrolmen John Walsh and Timothy Toomey of the Cambridge department had seen Leary acting suspiciously at the corner of Cambridge street and Warren. The youth fled when he saw them and Patrolman Frederick Collins appearing opportunely in his car, they gave chase and captured the young man who was booked for drunkenness, assault with intent to kill and carrying a gun.

POOR BOX THIEVES AGAIN VISIT SO. BOSTON CHURCH

Poor box thieves, preying on St. Augustine's Church, South Boston, for months, transferred their activities from the lower to the upper church. It was revealed today when cast iron offering boxes were found broken and strewn in the aisles. The vandals have been making forty-eighty visits to the church, but usually preyed on the collection boxes in the lower section. No arrests have been made.

BRIGHTON MAN HELD IN $50,000 STILL RAID

The first arrest in connection with the $50,000 still seizure in West Second street, South Boston, last week, was made today when Wilfred Dart of Commonwealth avenue, Brighton, was taken into custody and held in bail of $500 for a hearing Feb. 4.

TROOPERS START SEARCH OF CAPE COD FOR MISSING SMITH GIRL

IMPORTANT FOR MOTHERS TO KNOW

Thousands of mothers all over the country depend on Father John's Medicine to keep their little ones well and strong.

They know that it is pure and wholesome, free from alcohol and dangerous drugs and very effective in the treatment of coughs, colds and as a tonic and strength builder.

CLUES PLENTY, BUT NOTHING TANGIBLE

leave for four hours she asked the ticket agent where she might rest until train time.

She was directed to the Buzzards Bay Hotel across from the station. At the hotel she went directly into the dining room and sat down to lunch. Mary Masterson, who served her, described her to police as being extremely well educated and well dressed. She was soft-spoken and had every appearance of being very tired. Beneath her eyes there were deep circles.

STARTED FOR WOODS HOLE.

When she had finished her repast, the girl asked the waitress if she could see the proprietor and Miss Masterson called George Christopoulos. From Christopoulos, the girl believed to have been the missing Smith College heiress engaged a room on the second floor. To this she retired until about 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Shortly before train time she reappeared, thanked the proprietor for his kindness, crossed the street to the railroad station and bought a ticket to Woods Hole. When the Woods Hole train was made up she boarded it and nothing has been disclosed to correct the impression that she left on it.

Into the chain at this point comes the third and perhaps strongest link of the circumstances connecting the Buzzards Bay transient with the missing student. Frances St. John Smith has summered at Woods Hole and is acquainted in the locality.

She once spent a vacation, her parents revealed today, at the estate of Charles R. Crane, valve manufacturer, in the exclusive Juniper Point section of Wood Hole. Investigators believe that if the missing student is wandering, either wilfully or a victim of amnesia, she may have been attracted to the town through her previous visits there.

Five State detectives are at Woods Hole working on the clew. The Crane estate there has been searched by Special Officer William Hemenway without result. Investigators feel the girl would have avoided the estate, where she might have been recognized by a caretaker.

HANDWRITING IS CHECKED.

If the girl left Woods Hole Tuesday afternoon on the boat bound for Vineyard Haven, then she could have written the letter to Superintendent Crowley. The handwriting in that letter is being checked today with that of Miss Smith.

Authorities do not believe that the girl, moving constantly from place to place, would have lingered on the island, but would have returned to Woods Hole, remaining in the Cape district, or boarding a train for Boston or a boat for New York.

Train and boat crews were being checked by detectives and troopers in a concerted effort to trace her movements.

Another search of the Crane estate will be made on the possibility that the girl may have spent a night in one of the several lodges on the grounds.

MAY DOUBLE REWARD.

As the Cape Cod search was underway, word came from Northampton that St. John Smith, wealthy New York broker and the missing student's father, may double the reward of $10,000 which he has offered for information leading to finding his daughter alive.

The physical condition of the girl's mother grows worse as each day brings no word, and under the care of an Amherst physician she remains in her room at a Northampton hotel.

Stories of attempted attacks on Smith College girls previous to the disappearance of Miss Smith are widely circulated about the campus and the feeling of uneasiness among the student body has increased. Many parents of Smith students are in Northampton.

The growing belief that the girl is still alive was greatly strengthened by the story of Daniel Cray, cook in the Hotel Draper, at Northampton, which places her in Springfield the day following her disappearance. Cray told his story, in which the police place much credence, today with the admission that he had been reluctant to come forward and appear as a publicity seeker.

"I generally take the 1:15 p. m. train Saturdays from Northampton to go to my home in Springfield for the week-end," he said. "Many Smith College girls are aboard the train bound for their homes every Saturday.

GIRL ALONE IN SMOKER.

"On January 14, before I had heard of the Smith girl's disappearance, I noted a peculiar incident in the smoking car of the train. Two college girls came in and sat in the front seat. My attention was attracted to a very much quieter girl who sat behind them, alone. She was obviously a student, also in eighteen years old. I wondered why she was in the smoker, for she didn't smoke and talked with no one.

"She appeared preoccupied and my curiosity was aroused and I took notice of her when she left the train at Springfield. She stood for some time before the blackboard on which train arrivals are posted, apparently studying it.

"It was my impression that the girl sought to avoid the other students in the coaches by riding in the smoker. At the Springfield station I had a good view of her face and when I later saw the story and picture of Miss Smith I was sure it was she.

HAD NO BAGGAGE."

"She carried no baggage, while all the other girls did. She wore a small dark turban and what I thought was a tan coat with fur collar. I assumed she took a train for New York, due shortly, but I did not see her buy a ticket."

Cray has had more or less training in observation, having been for fourteen years an investigator for the Holyoke Water Department.

Professor Richard Donovan of the college faculty, who instructed Miss Smith in harmony, described the girl as "self-centered" today. He said: "I was aware Miss Smith was more or less worried concerning low marks in several studies, but she really had no reason to be. In my short dealing with her I found her reticent, refined and self-centered. She was a very fair music pupil and very willing to learn."

NAB WOMAN AND OFFICIAL IN RAID

Peterboro, N. H., Jan. 24.—John F. Hannon, water and fire commissioner of this town, and Mrs. Blanche Bailey, proprietor of a Summer boarding house, were arrested in an early morning raid. They were held for the grand jury today in bonds of $500 each.

They were arrested by operatives of the Wolf Secret Service Bureau of Boston and Chief of Police McAvoy at the home of Mrs. Bailey. Arraigned before Justice Kennedy Hannon pleaded nolo, and Mrs. Bailey not guilty, and the commissioner furnished bonds for both. The raid was instituted in connection with a suit for divorce brought by Mrs. Hannon, who lives only a stone's throw from the Bailey home. Hannon has brought a cross action.

$40,000 Ransom Is Demanded for Smith Girl

Detroit, Jan. 24.—A letter sent from this city to St. John Smith, demanding $40,000 for the return of his daughter, missing Smith College student, was under investigation today. It was signed "Mitchell R. Spring" and a return address on Second boulevard was on the envelope.

The house at the number given was found to contain nobody named Spring. A police guard has been set around it.

The demand was the second made on Frances St. John Smith's father by letter mailed here. The handwriting in each instance is being compared.

STATE ACTS IN HAVERHILL 'WAR'

An investigation into the labor dispute between shoe manufacturers and employes at Haverhill will be made by the State Department of Labor and Industries, through its division of conciliation and arbitration.

Forty-two factories are idle and approximately 5,000 employes are out, the department says.

Representatives of the workers and owners will be summoned and every effort is to be made to get at the underlying causes of the dispute. Books of both the employers and the unions will be examined.

The department also seeks to learn the reasons which have led to the closing of some factories and their removal to other States.

ARMY POST CONDITIONS SHOCK CITIZEN PROBERS

SOLDIERS SHIVER IN COLD, DAMP WAREHOUSE SHEDS

ting groups around the stoves. The quiet several short talks were made by the visitors to the enlisted men gathered at tables in the mess room, Colonel Croft said:

"Men, we are highly honored today in having with us members of Congress and other gentlemen who have been invited by Mr. Hearst and his newspapers to investigate the question of better housing for soldiers. We are glad to know that Mr. Hearst is taking this interest in our welfare. I am confident that when Mr. Hearst starts a thing he means it, and I am sure all you men will appreciate the efforts of the Hearst publications in behalf of the American soldier."

Congressman Bowles said:

"The houses out here on Governor's Island appear to be in a deplorable condition. I am glad that Mr. Hearst and the Hearst Newspapers are making this investigation of the way in which the American soldier is housed at the present time. What we have seen at Fort Hamilton and what we now see here indicate that bad housing is general at most army posts throughout the country. It is disgraceful that our soldiers are compelled to live in such unsanitary firetraps and dingy structures, that are unfit even for animals. As a member of the House Military Affairs Committee and member of the sub-committee on housing I shall do everything in my power to aid in bringing about remedial legislation in order that our American soldiers shall have decent and adequate living quarters."

Mr. Sunday Hansen, in a brief talk to the men, explained the nature and the purpose of the investigation and emphasized Mr. Hearst's personal interest in the campaign of the Hearst Newspapers for improved housing conditions in the American army.

Despite discouragement, the officers are doing everything within their power, it was indicated to make the enlisted men as comfortable and contented as the circumstances permit. The committee members expressed the opinion that the job was almost heroic.

COLD, DAMP ROOMS

Under escort of Colonel Croft, the committee made thorough inspection of the buildings. The Army structures on Governor's Island range in age from twenty-five to one hundred and sixteen years. The old "Quadrangle" barracks building, an ancient brick structure, cut up into makeshift apartments and used for officers' quarters, is commonly reported among the officers to have been condemned over ten years ago as living quarters for soldiers. The report could not be verified at the post. An old coach house, the committee found, had been converted into living quarters for junior officers.

The worst conditions were found in the war-time constructed shacks and converted warehouses used for housing the enlisted men and the noncommissioned officers, entitled to separate quarters, and the latter's families. They were dark, cold and damp. In many places the roofs leaked. From the rain-soaked roofs served and the mess sergeant was complimented. At Colonel Croft's rethe rain ran in rivers and water collected in deep pools on the sagging, rotting porches.

In some of the barracks the men had covered the inside walls with burlap and boxboard to keep out the rain and cold. Rain seeped through the walls and roofs of the gloomy, barn-like structure, and the soldiers huddled close to the sheet-iron stoves to keep warm and dry.

1,200 AT CAMP

In one non-commissioned officer's house it was so damp and cold that the sergeant's wife, a "war bride" from France, was shivering, even while hard at work at her sewing machine. She said:

"If I have to live like this I shall soon die."

During the tour of inspection the committee called on Major-General Hanson E. Ely, commander of the Second Corps Area, with headquarters on Governors Island, who greeted the visitors cordially and gave orders to facilitate the investigation in every way possible.

Fort Jay has a strength of approximately 1,200 men. Of these about 800 belong to the Sixteenth Infantry, under the command of Colonel Croft. There are also stationed on the island a motor transport company, a quartermaster's detachment, an ordnance, medical, signal and other detachments and a number of casuals. The records of the post show a housing capacity of quarters for 190 officers, 40 warrant officers, 421 noncommissioned officers, 1,328 enlisted men and 251 animals.

In addition to disgracefully inadequate housing for soldiers, the committee found an example of wastefulness on Governors Island in the storing of 6,000 tons of coal in the open air with a consequent heavy deterioration in fuel value.

Tomorrow's article deals with conditions at Fort Wadsworth.

Card Game Cheaters Given 3 Years on Girls' Complaint

New York, Jan. 24.—Sidney Smith and Joseph Cohen were sentenced to three years in prison for cheating at cards. This is the heaviest sentence for a misdemeanor that can be given in this State.

Miss Claire Gilbert and Miss Suzanne Green, former show girls, complained that the men had taken $2,500 from them by the use of a "marked" deck.

CALL SINCLAIR IN OIL PROBE

Washington, Jan. 24 (I.N.S.).—The Senate's famous Teapot Dome investigation was reopened today, after a four-year recess, in an effort to trace a $3,000,00 fund raised in an oil deal consummated at the time the naval oil reserves were privately leased.

The fund represents the profits of the Continental Trading Company of Canada, created by Harry F. Sinclair and others. It assumed significance when $250,000 was traced, in Liberty Bonds, to the banking account of former Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall. Sinclair himself has been summoned.

Senator Thomas J. Walsh (D.) of Montana, resumed his role of oil prosecutor. He announced that M. T. Everhart, son-in-law of Fall, would be the first witness. Everhart was shown to have deposited the $230,500 in Liberty Bonds to Fall's credit in a Western bank.

IMPORTANT FOR [illegible] TO DEATH DRIVER

Charged as a hit-and-run driver, with manslaughter in connection with the death of 9-year-old Grace Rapino of Porter street, East Boston, Charles F. Collins, 59, of Main street, Medford, was held in bail of $10,000 today following arraignment in East Boston Court.

Grace died ten minutes after she was struck near her home, and her sister, Rose, 6, is in the hospital with serious injuries.

Collins was arrested near the scene after his car crashed into a bicycle, and six other charges were placed against him while police tried to connect him with the fatal accident. He was released on $1,000 bail on the six charges.

Today he was re-arrested after police queried persons near the scene of the tragedy. The manslaughter charge will be heard Tuesday with the other six.

WHITE HOUSE LUNCH GUEST

Washington, Jan. 24 (I.N.S.)—With a simple, unaffected ceremony, William T. Cosgrave, President of the Irish Free State, today paid tribute to America's hero dead of the World War.

The Irish executive motored to Arlington National Cemetery with his entourage and laid a wreath on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier, remaining in silence at the tomb for several minutes.

Then, returning to the city, President Cosgrave was taken to the White House, where President Coolidge tendered him a State luncheon.

The entire Cabinet, ranking members of the House and Senate Foreign Relations Committees, high ranking Army and Navy officers and a number of other prominent government officials attended.

Thompson Explodes at British Plan to Cut Out July 4th

Chicago, Jan. 24 (A.P.)—May or Thompson had an opportunity to fire another broadside at the British lion when a Minneapolis news paper wired him for an opinion on the plans of Moses Catsworth, British citizen, to change the calendar to thirteen months of twenty-eight days, eliminating the Fourth of July, Columbus Day, Memorial Day a 'l all other American holidays.

"Haul down Old Glory and put up the Union Jack," the Mayor wired in reply. "The plan is in line with the perverted histories calling George Washington a rebel and a traitor. To me it is part of a whole diabolical plot."

BRICKLEY DEFAULTS IN $36,588 STOCK CASE

Charles Brickley, former Harvard football star, was defaulted by Judge Foulkes in Suffolk Criminal Court today when called for trial on five indictments charging larceny of $36,588 in stocks, bonds and money from Patrick Calhoun, Georgeanna Boynton and James McColgan, in broker shop transactions.

'LIE' IS HURLED IN TILT WITH AGED JUDGE

A second bitter clash between Attorney Daniel J. Kiley of Boston and 89-year-old Probate Judge Charles L. Long of Hampden County today enlivened a hearing before the legislative committee on legal affairs.

The terms "lie" and "insult" were freely passed while they discussed a bill which would prevent a probate judge from altering, amending or deleting evidence without consent of all parties.

Characterizations by Kiley of Judge Long's attitude on the bench as "scarcilike, autocratic and unfair," made previously before the legislative committee on pensions when Kiley sought to have probate judges retired at 70 years, were repeated today.

In opposing the bill, Judge Long, who held that it would be unconstitutional, said:

"I have had to wait 32 years to be insulted by lawyers in probate court. This is the first time that I have ever been called a liar."

DEATH CAR DRIVER HELD ON MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE

On a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Thomas J. Collins, seventy-two, of Medford, struck by an auto when he alighted from a City Point car at the Army Base last week, Philip A. Sawyer of Harvard street, Winchester, was held for the Grand Jury in bonds of $500 when he appeared in South Boston Court today. Sawyer, a postal employe, rushed Collins to the Haymarket Relief Station following the accident, but doctors pronounced the man dead on arrival.

PAYS $11 FOR ONCE-SPEEDY RUM AUTO

A once speedy rum auto, which figured in many chases by government agents, today took a less "dignified" role at the Army Base when the government's auctioneer's hammer descended in finality on a bid of $11, one of a list of seized goods offered at auction.

H. W. Beaulieu, employe at the Army Base, successful bidder for what others in attendance at the sale termed a piece of junk, received with his buy two blankets, three screw drivers, a pair of pliers, four teen wrenches, a putty knife, file, hammer, cold chisel, pump, jack and a set of tire chains

Other autos, some seized for illicit running and others "retired" from government service, were not under the hammer, bringing a variety of prices.

A brougham of 1925 model, valued by the government at $500, brought $310 following a spirited contest between two bidders.

Two marine conversion car engines, appraised at $625, finally were sold for $122; a motorboat hull, valued at $350, brought $100; two touring cars of expensive make sold for $48 each, and a motorboat, seized and valued at $425, was sold for $250.

A curious twist occurred when two tons of Canadian hay were put up for sale, one lot consisting of 100 bales, weighing six tons, and the other less than half the quantity. The latter brought nine dollars more than the larger quantity, selling for $111, while the six tons were sold for $102.

2 DARTMOUTH STUDENTS NEARLY FROZEN IN CLIMB

Hanover, N. H., Jan. 24 (A.P.)—C. H. Perry and J. E. Tellinus, both of Detroit, Dartmouth sophomores, were moved to a hospital here today for treatment for frozen hands, feet and faces resulting from an attempt to climb Mount Moosilauke.

In 8 Days 3 Come to Call Her "My Dear Grandma"

You can't laugh this off as a record. Mrs. Margaret Perry of Conant street, West Quincy, has become a grandmother for the third time in eight days.

First entered a boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph F. Burrell of Quincy Point. She was formerly Inez Perry. Then came a second boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Sears of West Quincy. The mother was formerly Margaret Perry. And now there is a girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Perry of Quincy Centre. Mrs. Perry, before her marriage, was Eleanor F. Hill.

CHARGE SCHOOL IN EVERETT IS UNSAFE

Charges that the Winslow Grammar School on Locust street, Everett, is unsafe, and is sending its pupils, resulted in a demand by Councilman Charles Jackson of that city that action be taken by the authorities at once.

Councilman Jackson presented to the Council an order calling for the appointment of a special committee to act in co-operation with Building Commissioner John L. Noel in making a thorough investigation of the conditions.

Parents of the children who attend the school have complained that the institution is menace. It is one of the oldest buildings in the city.

WHEN YOUR HAND GOES TO YOUR HEART

Difficulty in breathing and heart palpitation are symptoms of high blood pressure, which may cut off life suddenly. Our modern habits of life are responsible, putting too great a strain upon the vital organs, especially the liver.

When the liver becomes "limp" or sluggish it fails to cleanse the blood of the toxic poisons formed in food waste. The poisons then permeate the system, affecting stomach, kidneys, heart and blood pressure.

The liver occasionally needs a little help, and there's nothing better for this, as medical men today know, than a little ox gall. Ox gall is a great natural stimulant for the human liver, promoting its normal active functioning, so essential to real health. Dioxol tablets are genuine ox gall in dainty and tasteless form, each tablet representing 10 drops of pure ox gall. A few bring impressive results. To be sure of getting the genuine ox gall, be sure of getting Dioxol. They cost less than 2c each at druggists.

776 Prizes Given Away For Letters on Yeast

OVER three weeks left in the nation-wide Yeast for Health Contest! You have till Feb. 20. But don't delay! Send us your letter now. ¶ Just write, in your own words, the story of why you decided to eat Yeast and what it has meant to you. Or, if you prefer, write on why you believe Fleischmann's Yeast is better than medicines. ¶ You may write on either of these subjects—or on both. For the 776 best letters we will give $10,000 in cash! ¶ First read on this page the true records of others' experiences with Fleischmann's Yeast. How they conquered constipation and its attendant ills—indigestion, headaches, pimples, boils. To hundreds of thousands Yeast has brought benefits such as these. ¶ Then write your letter—today. This is the final announcement of this contest. Save it. And be sure to follow the rules.

SUBJECT No. 1

"Why I decided to eat Fleischmann's Yeast and what it has done for me"

388 prizes for the best letters on this subject—

1st PRIZE $1000
2nd PRIZE $ 500
3rd PRIZE $ 250

2 Prizes of $100 each 3 Prizes of $50 each
25 Prizes of $25 each 100 Prizes of $10 each
255 Prizes of $5 each

If you write on this subject be sure to cover the following points:

1. What made you decide to eat Fleischmann's Yeast for Health?—Learning of the benefits derived by someone else? The advice of a friend or physician? Or just reading about it?

2. Describe the condition of your health when you began to eat Fleischmann's Yeast, and tell how your ills interfered with your work or happiness.

3. How did you eat Fleischmann's Yeast (that is, just plain, or in water or milk, etc.) and for how long have you eaten it?

4. How was your health benefited by eating Yeast? What difference did these benefits to your health make in your daily life?

"SURGEONS' assistants must be snappy, wide-awake, skilled nurses. After assisting a well-known surgeon for some time I began to realize that the strain and irregular hours of emergency operating were taking their toll. I lost my 'pep,' felt constantly tired. I suffered from headaches, occasional nausea and stubborn constipation.

"I tried everything—unsuccessfully. One day a young intern laughingly said, 'Try Yeast.' The surgeon scoffed. A wizard with the knife, he concerned himself little with ailments of my type.

"But the seed was sown. At home I read of benefits others had derived from Fleischmann's Yeast. I began that night. Three cakes daily for five weeks brought me back to normal. The surgeon was astonished. 'Bold' on my case, he has interested his colleagues. Today a dozen of the staff at the hospital are prescribing Fleischmann's Yeast in many cases like mine."

"MY FAMILY PHYSICIAN suggested Fleischmann's Yeast for the chronic case of boils with which I was afflicted. This was after remedies of every description had failed to give any permanent relief.

"I was most afflicted during the winter and spring months. I began eating Yeast in the winter —3 cakes a day. After only a few weeks I noticed that the boils were beginning to heal . . . I kept right on until finally they all disappeared for good. I still eat Fleischmann's Yeast as it keeps me in the best of health."

R. S. Hamann

SUBJECT No. 2

"Why I believe Fleischmann's Yeast is better than medicines"

388 prizes for the best letters on this subject—

1st PRIZE $1000
2nd PRIZE $ 500
3rd PRIZE $ 250

2 Prizes of $100 each 3 Prizes of $50 each
25 Prizes of $25 each 100 Prizes of $10 each
255 Prizes of $5 each

If you write on this subject be sure to cover the following points:

1. Why is the continued use of pills or cathartics harmful?

2. How does Fleischmann's Yeast keep the intestinal tract clean?

3. What common ailments are generally associated with constipation?

4. Why is it important that Fleischmann's Yeast should be eaten regularly every day?

RULES

[1.] This contest is freely open to all—employees of the Fleischmann Company excepted.

[2.] You may write on Subject No. 1 or No. 2—or on both subjects. If you write on both, use a separate sheet for each.

[3.] Letters should not exceed 200 words in length.

[4.] Use white paper of standard size—8 1-2 x 11. Use only one sheet (both sides, if necessary).

[5.] Print (do not write) your name, complete address, date and the subject on which you are writing at top of sheet. If you write on Subject No. 1 and Subject No. 2, use a separate sheet for each, with your name, address and the subject at top of each. Use pen and ink or typewriter.

[6.] Sign name at end of letter. If you write on Subject No. 1 ("Why I decided to eat Fleischmann's Yeast and what it has done for me") you must have a witness—who knows your story to be accurate—sign his or her name under yours.

[7.] Mail in stamped, sealed envelope to the Fleischmann Company, P. O. Box 1251, City Hall Station, New York, N. Y. All reports must be received before midnight, Feb. 20, 1928.

[8.] Prizes will be awarded by a board of impartial judges, none of whom is a member of the Fleischmann organization.

[9.] No letter entered in this contest will be used for advertising purposes without your express permission.

[10.] We cannot undertake to answer any correspondence relating to the contest. But announcement will be made about the middle of March, by mail, to all entrants, giving names of prize winners.

[11.] Letters not following these rules will have to be disqualified.

7 Questions About Yeast—Answered for You

In the past year 435 different questions on Yeast were asked in letters to The Fleischmann Company. Seven of them were asked 1000 times each. Here are the correct answers, given by the medical advisers.

Q: What is Yeast? A: It is a plant—as fresh as any vegetable. Each cake contains billions of these tiny, active plants.

Q: How does it work? A: Headaches, skin trouble, indigestion —such ailments usually come from an unhealthy intestine. Yeast attacks the intestinal wastes, stimulates the muscles. Elimination becomes more regular, complete.

Q: What are the scientific facts behind Yeast for Health? A: In the past 30 years Yeast as a food for health has been the subject of research by 80 leading scientists and medical men. The foremost medical journals have published their findings. The value of Yeast as a therapeutic agent is now firmly established.

Q: Will Yeast make me fat? A: No. Any gain in weight will come from the other food you eat—not the Yeast. One Yeast cake contains fewer calories than a soda cracker.

Q: Does it cause gas? A: Yeast should not cause gas if eaten as directed. Where gas has formed it is usually because Yeast has been eaten at mealtime. For best results it should be eaten half an hour before meals, or between meals, and at bedtime. In this way, it increases the flow of gastric juices and so generally relieves the condition that causes gas.

Q: How long should I eat it? A: That depends on your condition. Most cases are helped in 3 or 4 weeks, but to give Yeast a fair trial you should eat it at least 60 days. Because it is a food, and not a medicine, it should of course be eaten regularly.

Q: How should it be eaten? A: Plain, or in hot or cold water or any other way you like. Eat 3 cakes daily, one before each meal or between meals. For stubborn constipation physicians say to drink it in hot water before each meal and at bedtime.

Salt Lake City, Utah

"I HAVE BEEN in the jewelry and watch repairing business for a number of years. The work is confining, the hours are long and there is very little chance for taking exercise.

"It is fascinating, though—I need only seat myself at my workbench, flunched over one of the many delicate jobs on hand, and I am lost to the outside world for hours.

"But when I relax after the long physical and mental tenseness I am often almost numb, and very frequently leave work with a terrific headache that stays with me for the rest of the day . . . Finally I began to be troubled with indigestion, too.

"An acquaintance induced me, after much persuasion, to try eating Fleischmann's Yeast. After two months—eating three cakes every day—my physical condition improved tremendously, and I was no longer bothered with indigestion.

"I eat my Fleischmann's Yeast regularly now and can heartily recommend it to anyone who does not get enough exercise. It is a wonderful tonic—keeps one in fine shape."

Brooklyn, N. Y.

"I WAS VERY AMBITIOUS—I hoped to make a successful business career. After working in an office all day—and strenuous work it was!—I would go to school in the evening. But after several years my health gave way. I began to be troubled right along with indigestion. I finally had to give up entirely the idea of a business career. My fiancé told me how Fleischmann's Yeast had helped a friend of his, so I began eating it myself.

"Well, I began to feel much better—and in no time at all, too, it seemed. My stomach trouble vanished entirely. How happy I was to be well again!

"I didn't go back to business, however. I got married instead!"

MILTON PASTOR TO PREACH AT NOVENA ON THURSDAY

The novena on Thursdays in honor of the Little Flower being held at St. Stephen's, her shrine in Boston, will have the Rev. William J. Daly of St. Gregory's Church, Lynn, as the preacher on Thursday.

Services are at 12:45 p. m., 2:30 p. m., and in the evening at 7:45. Special bus service before and after all devotions from Union and Hay-market stations of the subway. Father Daly will preach at the 2:30 and 7:45 services.

Hoop Skirts Are Gone Forever, But Bobs Will Always Wave

Providence, Jan. 24 (I.N.S.)—The bob will not join the memories of the bustle, the hoop skirt and other antiquated styles and modes of the feminine past.

Tonsorial experts of the Ladies Hairdressers Association of Rhode Island convention here today sent that long hair will not supersede the bob for many years, although admitting that [illegible] will be used for formal coiffures.

ARTHUR F. WHITIN AT 81 DIES IN WHITINSVILLE

Whitinsville, Jan. 24 (A.P.).—Arthur Fletcher Whitin, member of the family that gave this village its name and grandson of its founder, died today. He was born here in 1846 and for years had been identified with the cotton manufacturing business of the family. He was a member of the school committee for 23 years, had held many other town offices and served one term in the state Senate. He was president of the Whitinsville National Bank and trustee of the Whitinsville Savings Bank.

WORLD AIRWAY PACT OFFERED AT HAVANA

Havana, Jan. 24.—Comprehensive plans for development of commercial airways throughout the new world were laid before the Pan American conference today for consideration.

The plans were incorporated in a projected treaty on commercial aviation, placed before the conference commission on communications by Henry P. Fletcher, United States Ambassador to Italy.

The commission previously had assigned Fletcher to prepare and submit a report with recommendations on international commercial aviation.

The draft convention, prepared under the auspices of the Pan American union contains thirty-six articles.

An introductory one states that every nation has full sovereignty over all the air above its land and territorial waters and others guarantee freedom of passage to all commercial air craft under standard regulations corresponding to those governing ships in international trade.

There are special provisions for marking aircraft so their nationality may be determined from the ground, for passage freely across frontiers on through trips, and for equal treatment of all.

The draft also contains a clause under which commercial craft may be forbidden to fly over certain areas used for military and naval purposes.

ELKS TO HOLD CHARITY BALL TOMORROW NIGHT

One of the best programs ever presented is in readiness for the 49th annual charity ball of Boston lodge, No. 10, B. P. O. E., in the ball room of the Elks' Hotel, Tremont street, tomorrow evening. The leading artists from all of the theatres in Boston will appear from 8 to 9 o'clock and from 11 to 1 o'clock. James M. Curley, former Governor and Mayor of Boston, will deliver "The Elks' Toast," which is to be a feature of Elks' affairs and in connection with this feature there will be a novel electrical display.

James M. Curley

Edward D. Collins is chairman of the committee in charge and Frank J. Higgins is secretary of the committee. The proceeds of this ball help the needy of Boston.

NEW ENGLAND IS FREE IF DREAD 'RABBIT FEVER'

Washington, Jan. 24 (A.P.).—Warning to the public in general against tularemia, a serious and often fatal disease, known as "rabbit fever" or "deer fly fever," has been issued by Dr. Edward G. Redding, chief of the biological survey. The disease has been discovered in 39 States except Washington, Wyoming, New York and Delaware and in the New England States. It is a plague like disease of rodents communicable to human beings and 656 human cases reported in this country twenty have terminated in death. Men are known to have become infected by handling rabbits or muskrats.

Dollar Rules the World, British Banker Says

London, Jan. 24 (A.P.).—The world is on a dollar basis, Reginald McKenna, chairman of the Midland Bank, said in addressing the annual meeting of the bank.

"Although gold is still the nominal basis of most currencies," he asserted, "the real determinant of movements in the general world level of prices is the purchasing power of the dollar."

McKenna spoke a hopeful word for British trade in 1928. He referred to the great improvement in the relations between capital and labor and to the steady recovery of trade since the general strike of 1926.

"I am hopeful that these tendencies will gain in strength," he asserted. "I am naturally led to ask how long the world is to continue on a dollar basis.

"As long as conditions remain at all similar to those we know today, America will be able to pursue her credit policy without regard to gold movements and to maintain control over the world level of prices.

"The only condition, as far as I can judge, under which America might be drained of her gold supplus is that she should continuously make foreign loans beyond her true capacity to lend."

Phillips Named Green Line Coach

PASSING THE PUCK

By Bill Grimes

UNLESS some action is taken by President C. C. Clapp, after he receives the reports of Referee Wigget, Manager Eddie Powers of the Tigers and Don Smith of New Haven, Billy Coutu's latest assault should be a death knell of the Canadian American League, or at least of the present regime. A suspension will not be sufficient punishment. Coutu should be barred from hockey.

President Clapp has a chance to establish himself and the Canadian American League by his disposition of the Coutu case. If he allows Coutu to remain in the league he and the league are both doomed. There is no alternative for Clapp to take. Coutu has no place in hockey or rather hockey is no game for Coutu and his departure will place the game on a far surer footing than it has been since he has been connected with it.

Coutu was given a match foul for his assault on George Redding and he has already served his penalty but he must wait for a decision from Clapp before he can play again. Springfield and Quebec are strong for disbarment proceedings against Coutu and so is Manager Eddie Powers but New Haven is scheduled to play two more games here and unless the local management changes its tactics, Coutu will be in the line up when the Eagles come to the Arena.

In twenty-six games Coutu has been on the ice New Haven has been scored upon two hundred and twenty times. Coutu has been responsible for a large number of these goals. Not only has he been a detriment to his own team but he has been a detriment to the whole league. Coutu has been the bad man of hockey for two years and it is time that he would help to get the bad man's privileges. Coutu has taken into that capacity.

It was evident from the opening game that Coutu was going to cause plenty of trouble. Stored-up energy will increase his chances!

ARE your youngsters fortified against the Danger Days to come? Are their bodies prepared for a battle that may confront them any day? Danger Days are ahead. Preparation days are now.

Danger Days have danger signals. Sniffly noses, sore throats, coated tongues, finicky appetites are nature's signals flashing you a warning that your children's resistance is low — that Danger Days are ahead.

The germs in the air are looking for such signals. They know when to strike. Give your boys and girls the reserve strength to resist — to fight back — to win.

Healthy bodies are safe bodies

Health comes from sunshine, fresh air, sound sleep, vigorous exercise, and above all — nourishing food. The foods your children eat are the building materials of which their growing bodies are made. Healthy bodies cannot be made of poor materials. Active, growing bodies need more than plenty of food! There are Danger Days ahead. They need the right kind of food. It must contain the vital elements for making strong bones, sound teeth, firm flesh red blood, and worlds of energy for tomorrow. Who knows — tomorrow may be the Danger Day! If any single vital element is missing from the food of boys and girls, no amount of fresh air, exercise or sleep can supply it. What are these vital elements? Where can they be found? Every mother owes it to her children to know.

Whole wheat builds resistance

When nature conceived the grain of wheat, she created a spark of life. She crowded into the whole wheat berry the very food elements essential to life and growth. In Ralston, the whole wheat cereal, children get the things which bodies must have to fortify them against the Danger Days to come — for none of the vital elements of whole wheat have been removed in making Ralston.

Ralston will give your youngsters the calcium and phosphorus for building sturdy bones and hard white teeth — the proteins that will make firm solid flesh — the iron that makes red-blooded boys and girls — carbohydrates for energy—the bran that insures normal elimination—and the vitamins of life and growth.

Let Danger Days come— the Ralston boys and girls will be ready for them!

Use the Danger Days Coupon

We have a most important new booklet for you, that every mother should read. It tells all about Danger Days — how you can recognize them — how you can fortify your boys and girls against them. It is 32 pages fully illustrated. Send for it. It may mean warding off many Danger Days!

The coupon will bring your complimentary copy, and also a unique novelty for the children called the "Magic Blackboard."

MEDBURY SAYS---

By John P. Medbury

By JOHN P. MEDBURY

LABOR officials estimate that there are over two million unemployed people in this country, and you'll find most of them in business offices.

THOUSANDS of men have been hiding in large corporations for years.

THEY'RE the idles of the clerical staff.

ONE man loafed for seven years. The boss couldn't fire him because he couldn't find him.

BUT the general manager located him the other afternoon doing nothing. He was discharged for impersonating an executive.

ANYBODY could have told he wasn't an official. He didn't come to work with his knickers on.

THEY suspected him immediately because he only took an hour for lunch.

ANOTHER fellow was fired for talking to himself, but he claimed he was in conference.

HE was thinking about a big deal and didn't want to discuss it with outsiders.

HE'LL be a $10,000 a year man as soon as he gets a $7,500 raise.

HE has plenty of ambition, but it's in his wife's name.

HE can't help it if he's a failure, he forgot to take yeast.

HE'S the sort of a fellow who always leaves the office at one o'clock sharp on Saturday. He hates to loaf on his own time.

HE does nothing all day long and that doesn't even keep him busy.

HE often sits at his desk and thinks, but most of the time he just sits there.

HIS head is a tourist camp for ideas.

MOST of his thoughts are transient.

UNEMPLOYMENT in this country is a great problem. Instead of hunting positions for idle people, the labor officials should devote their time to people who have jobs, and persuade them to go to work.

WHEN you are very young, you long for all sorts of exciting things to happen. When you're a little older, you fervently hope they WON'T happen!

When you are very young, you go in for daring make-up, bizarre ear rings, airy clothes and heavily heaved eyelashes—everyth ng to make you look older and more sophisticated.

* * *

When you're a little older, you revert to flapper skirts, bobbed hair, cute little sport hats and baby blue blouses—anything to make you look younger and more ingenuous.

When you are very young, you sigh for a lover who will never propose you. When you're a little older, you sigh for a lover who will never UNpropose you!

* * *

When you are very young, you carefully camouflage your eagerness with an air of boredom and hard boiled cynicism. When you're a little older, you cautiously cover your boredom and cynicism with a forced smile of eagerness and enthusiasm.

* * *

When you are very young, you pretend to distrust all men! They can't fool YOU!

* * *

When you're a little older, you KNOW that they will fool you, but you sweetly pretend to believe in them.

* * *

When you are very young, you strive to be "different," original, unconventional, startling! You want the world to sit up and open its eyes!

* * *

When you're a little older, you hope to learn that nobody will think you "odd," or unconventional. You trust the world will close its eyes.

* * *

When you are very young, you dream of taking a man by storm, dazzling him, bowling him over, "knocking him cold!"

* * *

When you're a little older, you know that it is wiser to creep up on him, and steal into his conscious ness subtly and insidiously, when he is off his guard.

When you are very young, you like a string of men trailing after you; you want to be in every man's telephone book.

When you're a little older, you would rather spend one evening a week with an INTERESTING lover than have a dozen bores hanging around seven evenings a week.

When you are very young, you dream of a dashing, masterful cave man, entirely surrounded by money and egotism—somebody who can thrill you and make you SUFFER!

WASHINGTON — America has made good! Once again this nation has met the supreme test. The heart of these United States and territories beats true to the ideals of its childhood teachin's, learned at its mother's knee.

No sooner had the sad news been broadcast telling the world that my false teeth had been lost or stolen, than the people responded. Almost each mail brings some unexpected gift.

I wish to thank the Baptist Sunday school of What Cheer, Iowa, for the gift of tinfoil saved during 1927.

I would like to thank all those who so cheerfully sent old razor blades.

I was particularly pleased by the case of empty ginger ale bottles from "Just A Friend."

Let me express my gratitude to "Little Girl, 12," who sent the broken bottle capper.

I will ever remember the slightly used bar of soap from "Fellow Lodge Member."

There were, oh! so many gifts that it is impossible for me to acknowledge them all. I can only say, "Congressman Frisby thanks you . . . good luck to one and all."

SMART SAYINGS OF CLEVER CHILDREN

The Boston Evening American will pay $1 for published smart sayings. Address "Smart Sayings," Boston Evening American

A schoolboy wrote an essay on cats. The chapter on different breeds supplied the following information:

"Cats that's made for little boys and girls to nail and tease is called Maltese cats. Some cats is known by their queer purrs—these are called Persian cats. Cats with bad tempers is called Angorie cats. Cats with deep feelins is called Feline cats.

Teacher—"Now, Johnny," said the teacher, "come tell me what is the name of the principal river in Egypt?"

Johnnie—"The Nile, please, teacher."

Teacher—"Ah, that's right; now can you tell me of the smaller tributaries?"

Johnnie—"Oh, yes, sir," replied Johnnie; "Juveniles."

Mother!

Look at Child's Tongue if Sick, Cross, Feverish

Mother! Your child isn't naturally cross and peevish. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign the little stomach, liver and bowels need a cleansing at once.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, remember, a gentle liver and bowel cleansing should always be the first treatment given.

Nothing equals "California Fig Syrup" for children's ills; give a teaspoonful, and in a few hours all the foul waste, sour bile and fermenting food which is clogged in the bowels passes out of the system, and you have a well and playful child again. All children love this harmless, delicious, "fruity laxative," and it never fails to effect a good "inside cleansing." Directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are plainly on the bottle. Keep it handy in your home. A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Fig Syrup," then see that it is made by "The California Fig Syrup Company."

Why not a committee of honest financiers to tell the little people what to buy, safely?

Great Britain is "watching the United States carefully, suspecting an American challenge for world supremacy."

This country doesn't particularly want any world supremacy. Plenty of room, plenty to do on these two American continents. But if anybody must have world supremacy, why not the United States? This is a real empire and will last.

The Emperor of Japan sets an example in economy—carries a $5 watch, cultivates his own rice field. That would surprise his great-great-grandfather. That Mikado, by lifting a finger, could chop off anybody's head, and he did.

Japanese discover that western methods bring in western agitation. Politics in Japan is divided into eight parties now, including four labor parties. That calls for thought.

Here we haven't even one labor party, and worry about bolshevism.

Business men take one look at the stock market page, see that stocks closed strong on Saturday, opened strong yesterday, with call money used for speculation, lending at 3½ per cent. That's all they want to know. Poor beard.

RADIO DIALOG

by

C. WILLIAM RADOS

LAST night geography and politics mixed with radio equests, reminding us it is a presidential year. Shepard six mentioned Al Smith and Cal Coolidge and "planted it on the two leading crows." Number seven was Mrs. Willard Wickersham carrying on with the Ginter group "Al Gay-son." More politics here. The program was dedicated to Governor John W. Martin of Dark Horse, Idaho. Governor Martin is mentioned as a very dark horse for Democratic nominee.

The gypsies retrieved themselves with "Song of Araby" and "Dream Girl." This counteracts all the corny peppy jazz. But the gypsies made one mistake; how do they expect to make any sales in California?

Watch for the bass cello which will be in Boston tomorrow with the other Gypsies. The cello is the one that stands up during the performance.

A lot of mail came to us from NAAC about their new studio opening last night in Chicago. We were bad many broadcasts from Chicago, including the much-heralded weekly opera. Last night was the inaugural of "Riverside nights." Just like Coolidge Corners. When it should have been "Lakeside."

The "March of Progress" started the hour with sounds suspiciously like pistol shots. They were dull and follows by thuds. The announcer asked "Mr. Jones," the sound director, to take the mike. Mr. Jones did, doubtless as a souvenir of the first night. We recommend the broadcast.

We were unable to be present when Sandy MacFarlane broadcast from WGY, but a colleague from Scotland assures us he was heard across the ocean by his "granny."

* * *

Between 200 and 150 metres were eleven distinct and very bad squeals, ruining several good programs, as well as the ordinary kind. Florida stations come through the mush very well, but have little of interest in programs. We remember Flor3.a always came through well last Winter. From Florida to Massachusetts the radio signal travels over water practically all the way. New Yorkers scorn water.

The General Motors hour opened with "Coming Through the Rye."

This immediately provoked a warm discussion. Ben Hadfield insisted that the significance of "rye" at the beginning of the refrain "Coming through the rye" was short every hour with a capital R.

R. F. A. pointed, even if it's not polite to point that the absence of ordinary stress meant the pedestrian had been socked at last.

Even then, urged Nancy Howe, if they carried him through the rye they carried him through the rye and proceeded to revive anyone.

Lawrence Tibbetts then took the stand and made listeners forget Brits were such things as doubles.

WRIGLEY EARNINGS OF 4 YEAR DISPLAY INCREASE

COLLIER IS ON AIR TONIGHT

Franklin Collier, Boston Evening American cartoonist, will present to radio listeners over WLOE tonight a feature entirely new to radio, one that will contain all the elements of surprise, novelty, hilarity and interest.

Remember,
Tonight,
Six forty-five,
Station WLOE.
A soft lead pencil.
A copy of today's Boston Evening American.

After it's over, write Collier a letter, telling him what you think of his radio novelty.

SANDY HEARN IN SCOTLAND BY GRANNY

The following cablegram received by the Boston Evening American in the good night hour last night's attempt by Sandy MacFarlane, well known Boston radio entertainer, to broadcast across the ocean was successful.

Boston American — Delighted with wonderful Scotch programme reception perfect. Granny."

MacFarlane's station re-broadcast across the ocean a very short wavelength to England where British broadcasting stations re-broadcast the voice to Scotland.

NATIONAL POLICIES OF THE HEARST NEWSPAPERS

1. An agreement of English-speaking peoples to preserve peace among themselves and promote the peace of the world.
2. A constitutional amendment to provide for the election of United States Senators in numbers proportionate to the population of each State, but no State to have less than two Senators. A reapportionment of Congressional representation immediately after every census, or in case of the failure of Congress so to act, to make the apportionment automatic at the end of the first Congressional session, the proportion of population for each representative in each case to be that of the existing Congress.
3. A separate Department of the Army, of the Navy and of the Air Forces, all united under a Secretary of National Defence.
4. Federal action to the limit of Federal Government powers to abolish illiteracy among the people of the United States, and the creation of a Secretary of Education.
5. Necessary measures to secure the election of Congress in November and its installation on the 1st of January following, and the inauguration of a President on the 1st of January immediately following his election in November.

Kansas City

ANY Republican May Be a Delegate Who Can Get the Votes

Returning from a visit to his friend, the President, Collector of Internal Revenue Thomas W. White acts with characteristic and commendable promptness to squelch the story that the 39 Massachusetts delegates to the Republican National Convention are to be "hand picked," and that persons not selected by an inner circle of the "organization" must keep off.

One of the reports sent up from Washington while the Collector of Internal Revenue was visiting the White House was that Members of Congress in particular must not offer themselves as delegates. To do so, it was plainly intimated, would be to lay themselves open to the charge of "hoggishness." Which, as the dictum of the holder of one of the most lucrative Federal offices in the State, was cool enough!

For some reason or other, there was special emphasis upon the alleged desire of Washington that Edith Nourse Rogers, M. C., must not be a delegate.

Nine out of ten Bay State Republicans who read that the ban had been placed upon the only New England woman in Congress must have asked "why? why? why?" No one appeared to have the answer.

Well, no answer is required. Mr. White returns to say, in effect, that the contest for places on the delegation is open to one and all, which is as it should be. Members of Congress are NOT to be rated with "Indians not taxed." A. Piatt Andrew and Edith Rogers may be district delegates to the National Convention if they choose and the voters of their districts choose. The canvass will proceed.

Naumkeag's Secret

How One New England Cotton Mill Made $1,598,541.96 in a Year of "Depression"

If there is any process of law by which Agent J. Foster Smith of the Naumkeag mills at Salem can be compelled to tell how his plant continues to be run night and day AT A PROFIT, while other cotton mills are on part time at reduced wages, we wish some one would use it.

The Naumkeag specializes on sheets and pillow cases and advertises them all over. The mills last year turned out nearly 20 per cent. of all the sheets and pillow cases made in America, more than 40 per cent. of all in its own price-group.

While mills elsewhere were being operated three or four days a week, when they were running at all, Naumkeag's production last year jumped 6,088,180 yards, a business of $10,583,100.05, representing a gain of $1,510,424.22. NET PROFITS amounted to $1,598,541.96.

Incorporated in 1839, this Salem organization is one of the oldest of America's cotton textile mills. It is also one of the newest, concrete buildings having taken the place of the brick and granite structures destroyed in the Great Fire of 1914.

Hundreds of visitors are shown over the plant every week. They see one of the best equipments of its kind in the world and marvel to learn that since 1910 it has been driven by electricity. The weekly payroll of $83,000 is one of Salem's old dependables. J. Foster Smith, we repeat, should be made to tell how it is done.

Labor and Capital

And That 13-Month Year

Sir Josiah Stamp, head of the British London Midland Railway, says capital and organized labor should unite to revive British industries, coal, steel, railroads, etc.

If organized money and organized labor got together they could make any amount of money, without strikes or fights. Those between the top and bottom organizations could not avoid paying what might be demanded.

Nine hundred of 1,000 prominent American business men, questioned, approve the "13-month year"; so do many foreign nations.

Each month would have four weeks, every month would begin on a Sunday. Every week day would come on the same day of the month every year; an extra day would be left over each year, and two extra days in leap year. This would simplify many things, but it would make the year 13 MONTHS.

That would offend superstition. Once, when the calendar was corrected, and a few days were nominally stricken out, there was violent protest because millions of fools believed their lives were made shorter.

Nations like England and the United States, not yet sufficiently intelligent to adopt the metric system in weights, measures and everything else, will not adopt the thirteen-month year.

We've Had One Lesson

It Should Last 100 Years

Monsieur de Jouvenal, once French delegate to the League of Nations, says England and the United States will be on opposite sides in another European war. Naval rivalry is going to make trouble between England and America, says De Jouvenal, and "1935 will be the crucial year."

The majority of Americans hope there won't be any European war between now and 1935, and in any case, they intend that this country shall not be on ANY side of any such war.

We have had ONE lesson; no more needed for 100 years, thank you.

A GOOD MOVE FROM A BAD MOVER

By DR. FRANK CRANE

SOVIET Russia at Geneva challenged the entire world to disarm.

It offered to destroy her own land, sea and air forces provided other nations would do the same.

It is reported that this proposition left the delegates stunned and gasping for an answer.

It seems all right to make cautious moves in the direction of peace, but when somebody comes right out with a definite proposal to abandon war entirely that is another matter.

At the same time let us put this proposition down to the credit of Russia. Even the devil should have his due. We have all lambasted Russia enough for various things, but when she does good we ought to compliment her.

We will say that our only regret was that this Russian proposition did not come from the United States.

War will never cease until some nation thoroughly prepared for war, if it should come, says to the other nations of the world, "I will quit if you will."

The only trouble with Russia's proposition is that it comes from a nation thoroughly discredited, a nation that is too poor to go to war and a nation whose other proposals were regarded as not being in good faith.

But it is a good proposal just the same, and what a forward step would have been taken if Great Britain and France had said, in effect, that Russia's idea was a good one and they would join in!

Other nations may have begrudged giving Russia the credit for beginning universal peace, but that is an unworthy feeling, for what does the credit amount to provided we get the goods? The idea is a good one, whatever source it comes from.

This world would spring forward with an enormous bound toward prosperity and universal welfare, it would make the greatest move for progress ever made in history if all nations simultaneously would agree never to go to war and not to get ready for war.

Simply to cross war off as one of the possibilities of the future would mean eliminating the limit to economical prosperity and all the world will advance as it never had advanced before.

Boston DAY by DAY

IN recent years educators have discussed their problems at great length in the search for the best ways of teaching. Dr. Lewis Perry, principal of Phillips Exeter Academy, spoke the other day on "Is Education Real?" His address covered a general discussion of the value of education and educational methods.

Not for many months again will the Church of the Holy Spirit, Mattapan, hear the Rev. Alan Taylor, its rector. Last Sunday Mr. Taylor preached what will be his last sermon until he returns from his contemplated trip to Jerusalem. His itinerary will cover a seven months' tour of the Near East, including the Holy Land. As senior Protestant clergyman of Mattapan and rector of the church for more than twenty years, he will be missed by his many friends and parishioners.

Starting next Friday morning, five Catholic churches of the diocese will hold the devotion of the forty hours. The service will start early Friday and conclude with a special devotional service or mass Sunday. The churches and chapels are: Chapel of the Notre Dame Academy, Fenway; St. Peter's Church, Dorchester; St. Eulalia's Church, South Boston; St. James, Arlington Heights; and Chapel of the Sacred Heart Retreat, Sharon Heights.

World's Chess Champion

But What Is His Championship Worth?

ALEXANDER ALEKHINE, CHESS CHAMPION OF THE WORLD

This man, with the concentrated eye, became champion at the end of the longest chess match on record, recently played in Buenos Aires against the Cuban champion, Capablanca, who formerly held the championship.

For 74 nights in succession the two men struggled over the chess board until, at last, Capablanca, driven into a hopeless situation, gave up the match and Alekhine became chess champion of the world.

The mental concentration necessary in this game is intense, exhausting. Alekhine announces that he will not be ready for another match until two years shall have passed. Then he will be willing to play for a prize of $10,000.

Carry that news to Dempsey and Tunney. Think of using your brain 74 nights in succession to win $10,000, when you can use your fists for 30 minutes through ten rounds and make a million dollars.

There is nothing mysterious about this "fist above brains" situation. EVERYBODY has two fists and is, therefore, more or less interested in their use. Not so many have the brains that could play a great chess game.

The sad part of this great chess player's triumph is that it MEANS SO LITTLE.

The problems of chess are complicated. A great player must be able to see his moves far ahead and know what his adversary will probably do. There are chess players that, without looking at the board, can play twenty games at once, knowing the location of every piece on every board and remembering every move.

But what fearful waste of mental power.

Had Alekhine, with his strong mind and power of concentration, devoted his thought for 74 nights in succession to some one of the world's important problems, he might have achieved results more important than any chess problem.

If you play the greatest game of chess that ever was played on earth, you have done nothing for others. If you invent a better lampwick, spark-plug or shock-absorber, you have done much.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

"SO God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female, created he them.

"And God blessed them, and God said unto them, Be fruitful and multiply and replenish the earth."

Genesis 1., 27, 28.

My doctor was talking to me about our attitude toward sex and the tragedy which so often results from prudishness.

"Think what the gift of sex really meant—how it all happened."

Then he mentioned that name which one hears so rarely on a scientist's tongue—GOD.

God—in the beginning.

God and chaos.

No earth, no sea, no moon or sun or stars.

Darkness on the face of the deep.

And God said, Let there be light; and there was light."

So came the day.

Then followed land and sea and grass and yielding trees and stars and sunlight and the guardian moon. And fish and fowl and beasts.

AND FINALLY MAN.

Man, last of all, the crowning act.

Man, made from dust, then fired with God's own creative spark.

The sacred flame that made man God.

Into dead dust God breathed a flame and gave into man's hands the power of a god—THE POWER TO CREATE HUMAN LIFE.

How was that creation to be accomplished?

Was it to be accomplished through magic — through magic — through strange weird invocations or lovely works of art?

No. It was to be accomplished through Sex.

So God gave Sex to a man—a gift, the greatest gift—THE GIFT THAT LIFTS A MUD MAN TO GODHEAD.

"All other functions man shared with the animals," my doctor said. "He ate roots and berries with the animals. He drank water with the animals. He danced in the sun and slept in the grass and hid in the caves with animals. He hungered and shivered like any other animal. But in that one, stupendous, mysterious, sacred act of GIVING BIRTH TO SOULS, he left the animal state behind and became one with God. ONLY GOD AND MAN CAN PUT FLAME IN MUD—AND MAN COULDN'T DO IT UNTIL GOD GAVE HIM SEX.

"And yet, we have sullied this with vulgar associations. We have made it taboo. When our children ask us about it we blush with shame. We won't teach it in our schools, or expound it in our churches, or discuss it in our papers. The only place one hears a public reference to it is on the stage in saladious jokes. Isn't it strange?"
